ATHENS, OHIO

Sweet Athens; the home of learning and beauty,
How I long for thy hills and thy rich balmy air;
For thy wide spreading greens, smiling sweetly on duty,
And the valley beneath, and the stream winding there!
On the North the high rock, on the South the lone ferry;
The ville on the East, and the mill on the West,
The lawn where the gravest at play hours were merry,
And the walks by the footsteps of beauty made blest.

Bright Athens, farewell! If thy green slopes should never Loom up in the distance to welcome me more,
Thy scenes are engraved on my heart and forever
Shall memory faithfully keep them in store;
I think of thy rills, and my blood richly flowing,
Leaps freshly as erst through every vein;
And thy landscape, with distance and time brighter growing
Seems all made anew in the heavenly plain.

FOUNDER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED

February 18 Set Aside to Honor Pioneers—Ohio University Has Interesting History

"WHEREAS institutions for the liberal education of youth, are essential to the progress of arts and sciences, important to morality, virtue and religion, friendly to the peace, order and prosperity of society, and honorable to the government that encourages and patronizes them: Therefore, etc." Thus reads an Act "Establishing an University in the Town of Athens," February 18, 1804. From this day the life and history of Ohio University is counted and on this day it will forever be the habit of loyal alumni and students to commemorate the establishment of the first university ever to receive the attention of a Congress or a political body. The Ohio University is the oldest collegiate institution in the great northwest territory. It was originally conceived and provided for by Rev. Manasseh Cutler, of Ipswich, now Hamilton, Mass., in 1787, when, on behalf of the Ohio Company, he consummated the contract for the vast tract of land purchased by that company in Southeastern Ohio, and within which Ohio University is located. The hand and seal of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson are affixed to the patent which conveyed the land to the "Ohio Company of Associates." To Dr. Cutler must go the credit for writing into the Ordinance of 1787 the clauses which provided amongst other things, for the "encouragement of schools and the means of education" and it was his voice that directed the setting aside of two townships "to be given perpetually for the purposes of an university." The substance, and, to a great extent, the form of the charter of the university as he drafted it were incorporated in the territorial act of January 9, 1802, establishing the "American Western University," and later re-enacted, with little change, in the act of February 18, 1804, establishing the "Ohio University."

Dr. Cutler gave the plan of the organization much thought, studying the charters of like institutions of Europe and America. He finally modeled the university largely after Harvard and Yale, more particularly the latter, from which he graduated in 1765. It was his desire that the institution bear the name of the "American University," but in this his plans were changed. In justice to Rev. Dr. Cutler and to his untiring efforts he is rightly to be called "The Father of Ohio University."

MANASSEH CUTLER

On Sunday, February 18, 1923, alumni, students, and friends of the university are to join in a service in Ewing Hall Auditorium to commemorate the occasion of our establishment. Inasmuch as Founder's Day this year falls upon Sunday the executive committee of the Alumni Association has, after due consideration, deemed it advisable to forego the customary banquet. Attractions of as great or greater interest, however, are to be provided for the alumni, who are urged to come back for the week-end of February 18. Dr. Don D. Tullis, '98, eminent pastor of Indianapolis, Ind., will deliver the Founder's

Day address at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. The music for the service will be provided by Miss Joy Cutler, soprano, a relative of straight descendancy of Manasseh Cutler, and a member of the faculty of the School of Music. President Bryan will share in the service and the University orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Hizey, will play.

Dr. Tullis will come from New York City to be with us on this occasion and to give the address. He has been heard before with much pleasure at Ohio University and his coming this time is awaited with keen anticipation. Dr. Tullis is a graduate of Ohio University and of Lane Theological Seminary. He is a former pastor of prominent churches in Cincinnati and Newark, Ohio, and Terre Haute, Ind. At the present time he is secretary of the Interchurch World Movement for the state of Indiana. He is a forceful speaker of pleasing personality. Ohio University has long commanded the love and whole-hearted support of Don Tullis and when we cast about for a speaker there was little hesitancy in deciding upon him to fill the bill.

Alumni who find it possible to return a day early will have a treat in store for them on Saturday night preceeding Founder's Day when a joint recital by three members of the faculty of the Ohio University School of Music will be given as a part of the program in observation of Founder's Day. Miss

DR. DON D. TULLIS

The opportunity to hear these talented musicians will be welcomed by all who know them. Miss Hedden is a recent graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and a contralto of rich fullness of voice. Prof. Hizey is well-known as a violinist of rare technique and ability, while Mrs. Hizey is a brilliant pianist and accompanist.

Every alumnus who can possibly get to Athens on February 18, will not miss the opportunity to come and rally with other grads on the occasion of Ohio University's "birthday." Next year the annual banquet will be held in the new Ohio Gym and the year after we'll all be singing to the music of one of the finest pipe organs in the country in the Alumni Memorial Hall. We know you're busy, we know that railroad fares have not come down but what we know far better than you can know is that the program arranged for Saturday night and Sunday, February 17 and 18, is going to be one of the finest observances in our history. The churches in the city will welcome you to special services in the morning, and in the afternoon the address by Don Tullis. This is your invitation. We'll be looking for you. Write now and ask the alumni office to assist you to find rooms. We're at your service.

SECRETARIES MEET

Alumni Secretary J. L. Morrill, of Ohio State University, entertained the secretaries of Ohio colleges and universities on the Ohio State Campus, January 16th. The informal sessions of the conference were held in the Ohio State Union. Secretaries from the following schools were present: Wooster, Denison, Ohio Wesleyan, Oberlin, Case, Miami, Ohio, Muskingum, and Ohio State.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Our Financial Needs.

Every two years the state legislature assumes for its special consideration the financial needs of its educational wards, the tax-supported colleges and universities. Biennial appropriations effective July 1, 1923, are soon to be made. In every institution budgets for the coming period have been carefully prepared and the whole matter is now entirely up to the legislators. Joint alumni committees representing Miami, Ohio State, and Ohio University have been formed at various strategic points in the state whose business it is to interest themselves in the general welfare of the state supported schools and particularly in their financial welfare. The interest and sentiment of representative alumni are to be focused upon local members of the legislature and of the House and Senate finance committees.

Ohio University's needs have been very carefully appraised by our administrative officers and no legitimate item which will be for the best interests of the University has been left out. On the other hand, President Bryan is very emphatic in his statement that our needs have not been overestimated nor the budget padded with the expectation of its being pared down by the finance committees. To quote Dr. Bryan: "I shall go before the legislature for money to meet every legitimate need of Ohio University. I shall ask for not a cent less and not a cent more. I should consider myself derelict to my duty to Ohio University if I did less and to the people of the great state of Ohio if I asked for more than we will actually require." Whatever may have been the habit in the past with regard to budgets, or what may still be the practice of some institutions in figuring their requirements, Ohio University is asking only for what she needs and she must get every cent of what is sought. There must be no legislative slicing as in the past. We believe that the position taken by President Bryan will be appreciated by those who control the spigot of the money barrel and that by adhering to such a policy we will have no difficulty this year nor in future years in getting what we want. The Davis administration was known to be friendly to Ohio University and we have every reason to believe that the new administration will be just as appreciative of our needs.

Governor Davis' budget recommendations for the next appropriation period made to the legislature, January 6, exceeded by $11,000,000 the actual appropriations made two years ago. The bulk of this increase is to be found in the governor's recommendations for the state educational institutions, $9,3679,309 over the last biennial appropriations being recommended.

Governor Davis declared that the educators—professors and instructors—in state schools are badly underpaid. Where Ohio pays 48 cents per capita for educational service, Iowa pays $1.80; Michigan, $1.71; Wisconsin, $1.51; Minnesota, $1.35; California, $1.22; Illinois, 83 cents; and Indiana, 79 cents. Governor Davis says he has been prompted by a desire to see Ohio institutions equipped to give as good service as any in the country. The schools are eager to do their share in putting Ohio on the topmost round of the educational ladder.

"Better and Better"

"Month by month, in every way, it's getting bet—." Oh, you finish it. We haven't the heart. In the first place, it may not be true; in the second place, if it be true, it isn't up to us to say so; in the third, we've just joined a gang that is oath-bound to strangle any person who assaults our ears with old Doc Coue's chant.

Nevertheless we hope it's true that the Bulletin is improving with each new issue—and that it is a source of interest, information and inspiration to its readers. It is possible to go just as far in improving the publication as finances will permit—a singular fact but true. If you are not a paid-up subscriber for the current year (150 subscriptions expire with this issue) you will have found the inserted statement in your copy. It is a snappy, friendly, informal sort of little reminder, but folks it's serious to the last word. Read it carefully—aye, yes, prayerfully—and reflect.

If you are a paid up subscriber and thru error the office force slips up and you receive a statement don't you pay any attention to it. You'll know about that. "Let your conscience be your guide." Every month hereafter as subscriptions expire the subscribers will be notified so that there will be no danger of missing an issue. And just this and we're through. Remember that it is the number of "free" copies we are forced to issue that makes or breaks us. Every free copy is paid for by somebody. Our highest ambition is to go to a conference of alumni secretaries and boast of a hundred percent paid up alumni membership. What do you say friends? Wouldn't that be great. Just imagine the chagrin of Dr. Ament of Oberlin, "Louie" Morrill of Ohio State, or Secretary Mather of Denison. Ambitions have been realized.

Your Name in Print.

The Alumni office is engaged at the present time in compiling a directory of all of the living alumni of Ohio University. It will appear within a few months as one of the regular monthly issues of the Bulletin. It is our desire that at least 95% of all of the alumni be listed with their CORRECT address. This will be impossible without the cooperation of all concerned. We want to publish name, date of graduation, address, and when possible, occupation. Of the addresses of our 3000 living alumni only a comparatively few are unverified on our lists. If you are in doubt as to whether your address is correct on our files we urge you to drop us a postal card with its correction. There are hundreds, however, of whose present occupations we know nothing although we have their addresses. This to all our dear, good alumni friends: Won't you do this to aid us in the compilation of the directory? Unless you have within the last five months filled out an annual verification card, just jot down the following information on the corner of a newspaper and mail direct to this office: Name, address, occupation, date of graduation, any fact of interest about yourself. The directory will be published for the benefit of all alumni and will be issued to Bulletin subscribers at no extra cost. Get your name on the subscription list and insure yourself of copy of the directory.

What Have You to Give?

With the development of plans to move the University Museum from its unvisited and inadequate quarters in the basement of the library will come a pleasant surprise for many who have never known of the many interesting relics and displays which have been hidden away. Splendid provision is to be made for housing the exhibits under cover in the Fine Arts Building. Relics and curios are continually being received by the University. These are marked with the donor's or owner's names and when received in the form of an individual collection these are displayed together. It is hoped that there are many friends of the University who have private collections which they will be glad to lend or give to the University in consideration of the proper care being taken of them. The Alumni Secretary will be glad to hear of any such whether collections or individual exhibits.

William Dana Emerson.

Long before the "South Bridge" was built, a structure known to all students and graduates for a period of the last ten years, William Dana Emerson, '33, wrote the poem which appears on the cover page of the Bulletin. He refers to the "ferry" which was the only means of crossing the Hocking river in his day. Very few students of later days know that the river was at one time navigable for small craft from its mouth at Hockingport, Ohio, as far north as Athens. Mr. Emerson sings of the olden days. He was born at Marietta in 1813 and died there in 1891. The Emerson biennial prize in poetry is given in his honor.

A Combined University Board.

"The governor has asked the legislature to consider the question of a single board of trustees to govern the half-dozen educational institutions supported by the state. It is a suggestion that has been made at various times before, and an apparently sound, logical argument can be made out for it from the theoretical point of view.

When one enters into the many practical considerations involved, however, he soon finds that there are strong reasons to be adduced on the adverse side. The four older institutions concerned have developed each its own individuality, and it is not to the interest of the state, many will hold, any more than it is in accord with the judgment and wishes of the thousands of Ohio citizens who have been connected with each, that the individuality should be crushed down.

A single board charged with responsibility for all, in order to do justice to its duties, would have to be a board paid for its entire time; and except at salaries such as the legislature would be wholly and rightly unwilling to authorize, the state could not command for this work the services of men of as high ability and standing as many who are now serving without salary, because of their deep personal interest in the particular institution on whose board they serve.

And it is an unfortunate college which does not have on its board a fairly strong proportion of men (or women) who sustain to it just this intimate personal relationship. With one board for all, this could no longer be possible. We do not believe that in the end either the governor or the legislature will care to make the change."

The article quoted appeared on the editorial page of the Columbus Dispatch under date of January 15th. The editorial voices the sentiment of practically all of the alumni of the three principal state supported universities who have given the matter thought. This is not the first time that a similar move has been made but it is presumed that the effort (if an effort is really made) will be as fruitless as in previous attempts.

Sunshine of California is Enjoyed by Pioneer Clergyman—Retires After Long Service

A recent letter from Rev. A. H. Gunnett, '81, of Fullerton, Calif., was so very interesting that the editor was prompted to investigate the records of his office with a view to presenting a short narrative of Mr. Gunnett's life to his readers.

While in College Rev. Gunnett was a member of the Athenian Literary Society. In the winter of 1880 he represented Ohio University in the state oratorical contest which was held at Akron, Ohio. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. In the spring of 1881 he and the other members of that fraternity planted a row of elm trees on the east side of the walk leading from the front entrance of the campus (Class 1912 gate) to Center Building (Cutler Hall). Among the records of the fraternity is a plat showing the exact location of each tree and the name of the man who planted it.

REV. A. H. GUNNETT

In the early 80's there were but three buildings on the campus—East and West Wings and Center Building. Rev. Gunnett says he is delighted to learn of the growth and success of the college and prays for even greater triumphs. He speaks in highest praise of many native Athenians among whom are Mrs. de Steiguer, Mrs. Dan Stewart, Mrs. A. L. Roach, Mrs. Jennie Ullom, Kate Boyd, and Mrs. J. D. Brown. All of these ladies are now dead.

Abram Hartford Gunnett was born near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, October 25, 1852. His paternal ancestors were Hollanders, French and German. His mother's people were Scotch-Irish who came to America before the French and Indian Wars; settling in Western Pennsylvania, they were among the first settlers in what is now Beaver County. In 1863 Mr. Gunnett's family came to southern Ohio and settled in Jackson County. He was the third son of a family of seven children. Family finances were very limited due to invalidism of the father, and at an early age the boys were hired out to work to maintain the family. Mr. Gunnett went out to work when but eleven years of age. His salary was seventy-five cents per week and he states that his employer believed in the eight hour law—eight hours of work in the morning and eight hours in the afternoon. The schools of the times were very inferior and the boys were permitted to attend only about three months during the winter. As a consequence their education was sadly neglected. At the age of 18 Mr. Gunnett says that he could scarcely read or write. It was at this age that he was converted and this event changed the whole current of his subsequent life.

With his conversion came a call to the ministry and an intense desire for an education. His parents were unable to assist him financially. By working during spare hours he was able to support himself in school until he was prepared to teach in the country schools. He saved enough during his first term of teaching to start to college. His terms at college were interspersed with teaching, farming and selling books to keep up finances. By these means and by acting as janitor and steward of his boarding club he was able to finish his course in college. He graduated from Ohio University with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1881, just ten years after his conversion and awakening.

Immediately following his graduation he went to Springfield, Illinois, where in September of the same year he was admitted on trial to the Illinois Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was appointed to the Springfield circuit the same day that President Garfield died. Six years later, Rev. Gunnett with his wife, who was Miss Emma Bean, of Athens, Ohio, went into the "wild west"—Arizona—as missionaries. There was not another Methodist minister within a hundred miles. They traveled to their station through the land that was terrorized by the Apache chieftain, Geronimo and his murderous band. His work frequently took him to the mining camps of the new country to officiate at weddings and funerals and to preach to the miners. Travel was by stage-coach, buckboard and horse-back, several days being required for many trips. Ministers having no special immunity from attack by outlaw or Indian were forced to arm themselves heavily.

In 1893 Rev. Gunnett was transferred to California where he became a professor in the University of Southern California. After three years of service in the University he returned to the pastorate and served his church for five more years at the end of which he was elected Superintendent of the Children's Home Society of California, a position he has held for twenty-four years. Under him the work of the Society has made rapid progress and the physical properties increased in number and value many times over.

Rev. Gunnett states that one of the great events of his life was the meeting of Miss Emma Bean whom he married October 9, 1883. She was an Athens girl, a true help-mate and contributed largely to his success in the ministry. She was a woman of winning manner and strong personality and although an invalid much of the time during the last years of her life she gave of her time and herself in unselfish Christian works. Mrs. Gunnett is the author of "Her Day of Visitation." Rev. Gunnett is the author of a book of poems, "Echoes of Long Ago," containing a long epic of rural life and many shorter poems.

After forty years of active service, Rev. Gunnett is now on the "Retired List" but busy working with fruits and flowers and is enjoying the comforts of a beautiful home and the companionship of a younger brother and an estimable wife. He remarks that they are retired ranchers and orange growers and that the evening of their lives is as delightful as "the cool sea breezes and the gorgeous sunsets of this land of the sunset sea." The letter concludes with hearty greetings and a cordial welcome to any Ohio University folks to visit them.

MARINE STARS

Lieuts. Horace ("Hokey") Palmer, of Athens, Ohio and Frank Goetz, of Youngstown, were stars in the Marine-Third Army Corps football game at Baltimore, Md., Dec. 15. Both men were athletes of unusual ability at Ohio University, Lieut. Palmer being an All-Ohio halfback. Palmer is in the aviation service of the U. S. Marine Corps and is stationed at Port au Prince, Haiti. He has recently spent a short furlough with parents and friends in Athens, Ohio.

"BUCKEYES" CELEBRATE AT BUFFALO. ALL-OHIO COLLEGE NIGHT

On January 2, the Oberlin alumni chapter of Buffalo, N. Y., sponsored an "All-Ohio Night" program at the Statler Hotel in that city. The resident alumni and friends of all the colleges and universities in Ohio were invited. Over four hundred were present and an Ohio University grad reports that the spirit was fine and the night a great success. It is expected that the affair will become an annual one. Three short plays by the Oberlin Dramatic Association featured the early part of the evening. Afterwards the alumni from each Ohio college grouped together and responded to a roll-call of colleges.

A recent letter from C. W. White, '09, who is working on his Master's degree at Leland Stanford University mentions the name of other Ohio folk who are doing graduate work: Prof. I. F. Stewart, Helen Hawk Fiske, Stanley Dougan and David French.

Prof. Stewart was granted a year's leave of absence in the spring of 1921. Last spring the period of the leave was extended another year. Prof. Stewart expects to be back with the faculty of Ohio University next year.

"BY RADIO"

A radio message picked up in the United States stated that Dr. Carlos Nye, of Buenos Aires, South America, was enroute to the United States and would arrive in New York on January 10. Dr. Nye, whose home is at Chauncey, Ohio, has been practicing osteopathy in South America for some years. He was in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, attending the centennial exposition when the radio message was sent, and picked up in this country.

Dr. Nye is a former student and a brother of Dr. Robert E. Nye, '09, now of London, England. Both brothers were associated in the practice of their professions in South America for many years.

"THE FILLING STATION"

Members of the m. or l. distinguished class of 1913 will remember old Bill Buchanan. The Filling Station received a letter from Bill a little while ago in which he announces that he is still alive and may be reached by all but creditors at Yale University, Osborn Zoological Laboratory. He romped through Europe a few years ago with the A. E. F., came home to complete his work for the doctorate at Chicago, and now is in his second year as a member of the faculty at Yale. The boy, he says, is now two and a half and can kick a football. (For heaven's sake, Bill, let him assist Tad Jones next year.)

Harold Tyree appreciates the advertising value of this page so accurately that I shall have to give him about a hundred dollars' worth this time. Anyway this is too good to hide. By the way, Ty's listing of the Ugly Men's Club reminds me that that organization has disbanded. I remember that Ty was a member. I think I was an Ornery Member, and I believe Dutch Schaeffler was President. How about it, Dutch?

Rev. Conoway Dies at Home in New York— Former Faculty Member

Rev. Dr. Horace Mann Conoway, '92, former pastor of the Fredonia M. E. Church, died at his home in Fredonia, N. Y., December 17, 1922. Death came at the age of 62 years and following an illness of ten months duration.

Dr. Conoway was born in Harrison County, Ohio, on April 2, 1860. He graduated from Scio College, Scio, Ohio, in 1888; received his A. B. degree from Ohio University in 1892 and his A. M. in 1893. For four years, 1894-8, he was an Associate Professor of Latin and European History on the faculty of Ohio University. A fellowship and a scholarship in Columbia University gained for him his Ph. D. in 1900. Six years later he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. During his active ministry in the conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church he served in various pastorates, including eight years at Warren, Pa., and three years at Ridgeway, Pa. After five years of service in Fredonia he retired two years ago because of ill health.

Dr. Conoway was a very scholarly gentleman. He was a member of the American Historical Association and the American Academy of Political and Social Science. He is the author of "The Origin of the French Republic" published in 1903. When on the campus, Dr. Conoway was a member of the Philomathean Literary Society and of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

He is survived by Mrs. Conoway, who before her marriage was Miss Ruth Kelly, of Freeport, Ohio.

OLDEST MERCHANT IN ATHENS RETIRES

George R. Walker, '72, who for 50 years has conducted a bookstore on Court Street, Athens, has sold his business to parties as yet unnamed and will retire at once. Mr. Walker entered business for himself shortly after graduation from Ohio University half a century ago and since 1881 has been in the Cornwell Building where his store is now located. The business was started October 25, 1873, and with the possible exception of E. R. Lash, druggist, Ohio University trustee and former student, Mr. Walker is the oldest merchant in the city. The recent death of Mrs. Walker resulted in the sale of the business. Hundreds of Ohio University students have purchased their school supplies from Mr. Walker and will remember him as a genial and kindly gentleman.

RADIO FANS HEAR OHIO GRADS IN CONCERT

Radio fans all over the country who happened to be "tuned in" on Thursday evening, Jan. 18, heard Mostyn L. ("Bump") Jones, '13, in a group of solo numbers broadcasted from Newark, N. J. Mrs. Jones accompanied him.

On Sunday evening, January 21, Mac Slator Bethel, '14, was at the piano with the Hermit Club Orchestra when its program was broadcasted from Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Marged Edyth Jones, a former member of the Ohio University music faculty and Miss Olwyn Jones, former student and now instructor in piano in the Morrey School of Music, Columbus, Ohio, are sisters of Mr. Jones. "Bump's" lyric tenor voice was the feature of college serenades and a delight to all who heard him on any occasion. Since graduation he has had considerable professional experience. Oh, yes. He's Welsh.

Pidgeon Successful in Scientific Field—Member of Industrial Organization

Dr. Howard A. Pidgeon, '12, of East Orange, N. J., is successfully engaged in scientific research work in the Research Laboratory of the Western Electric Company in New York City. Mr. Pidgeon holds three degrees from Ohio University, C. E., '09; B. S., '11; and M. S., '12. Following his graduation at Ohio he did post-graduate work for his Doctorate and received his Ph. D. from Cornell University. His present connections were formed following his post-graduate work and have continued ever since.

The laboratory in which Dr. Pidgeon is engaged constitutes not only the research department of the Western Electric Co., but is also a consolidated research and engineering laboratory of that company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (the Bell system). It is by far the largest commercial research laboratory in the world, not only in amount of physical equipment and cost of operation, but also in the number of highly trained technical men. On the staff there are several dozen "Ph. D.'s" in Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry; several hundred engineers and other graduates of universities and colleges many of whom have taken more or less post-graduate work; and also several hundred highly trained technical men skilled in various branches of electrical and mechanical work. All of the development work incidental to the recent communication of officers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., with England by wireless was done in the New York Laboratory. During most of the time since last spring Dr. Pidgeon has been engaged in making the high-power vacuum tubes used in the experiments.

Dr. Pidgeon was a member of the old Ohio Union which later became Phrenocon and is now Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. After graduating he married Miss Esther Terrell, '12. Mrs. Pidgeon was a member of Aloquin, now Zeta Tau Alpha.

Louis Foley, '15, Returns from Orient—Wide Experience as Relief Worker

"Everyone in the United States seems like a millionaire," exclaimed Louis Foley, a graduate of Ohio University and a Near-East relief worker who returned home several weeks ago from the Orient. Mr. and Mrs. Foley spent three years of service, first in Harpoot, in the heart of Turkey and later in Syria.

Foley and his wife were among the first relief workers to go to Harpoot where he was placed in charge of orphanage supplies and later in charge of the 5000 orphans being cared for in that city. These children were among those recently evacuated to the more secure regions of Syria under French control. Mrs. Foley had charge of orphanage supplies. Later, for eight months, Mr. Foley was quartermaster of the relief bases in Aleppo, going from there to Sidon.

At Sidon the American couple were placed in charge of 1000 Armenian girls in the Near-East Relief orphanage there, being responsible for their care, education, and training.

Questioned concerning the attitude of the Armenian children toward education, Mr. Foley hastened to say: "The Armenians are very intelligent. They have a passion for learning which puts to shame our blase attitude toward education. No doubt this burning passion to learn is partly due to the fact that education is harder to get there, but more to the fact that it is looked up to there more than in this country.

"The Armenians do not consider themselves educated unless they are able to speak at least two languages, and they easily master four or five. One little girl 7 years of age spoke Turkish, Armenian, Arabic, French, and English, and she was no prodigy, having learned the languages just as we learn our own, by hearing them spoken, requiring, nevertheless, the Armenian mental alertness."

TOLEDO BUNCH TO MEET

Secretary Carlos M. Reicker of the Toledo chapter of the Alumni Association has given out the word that a meeting of Toledo alumni, former students, and friends will take place soon. That's all the dope he is giving out right now but we expect you'll be notified of the time at an early date.

Department of Special Education

By M. La Vinia Warner, Director

The Department of Special Education was established in the College of Education of the Ohio University to help meet the demands for teachers and directors in Special Education that are coming from the schools of Ohio. It is because of these calls for trained people in this work that I was invited by President Bryan to organize a Special Class Training School and to direct the work of students who wish to make themselves efficient in this growing field.

There have been two special courses of study arranged, a two year diploma course and a four year degree course. The degree course was organized two years ago, by Dr. Oscar Chrisman, the founder and head of the Department of Paidology. Four students graduated from this course last year and are now teaching in Special Schools. The two courses meet all the state requirements for a diploma so that the student and his development and the modifications of elementary and high school methods and subject matter as they may be adapted to the various special schools.

Six students registered for the courses in Special Education in September and as the news spread abroad that there was a new department on the campus, another ventured in from the Primary Department in the latter part of October. Before the close of the first semester several other students inquired about the work and now for the second semester there are fourteen students registered in Special Education.

Before the school had been in session four months, three cities had asked for trained people in this field. Of course we were unable to meet their demands at such an early stage in the history of the department, but we are hoping to supply them by next fall as the students who are expecting to go out as teachers next year are taking double work in the Department.

For fear that some one gets the idea that the study of Special Education includes calculus and higher mathematics in general I shall include in this article the courses which have been outlined for the students of Special Education.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Special Education:

Literature, Language, Music and Art, 17 semester hours including English Composition, American and English Poetry, Literature for the Grades, Story Telling, Modern Languages, Practical Arts for Special Classes, Music and Drawing.

Education, 30 semester hours, including: Methods of School Subjects, Primary, Kindergarten and Secondary Methods, School Administration, Supervision and Criticism, Methods of Special Education, Organization and Management of Special Education, Paidology and Psychology, Practice Teaching in Special Classes.

Science, 9 semester hours including Civic Biology, Garden and Floriculture, Paidology and Psychology.

History, Political and Social Sciences, 12 semester hours including American History, Sociology, Economics, Logic or Ethics.

Industrial Subjects—Manual Training, Home Economics, Practical Arts.

Physical Education—2 semester hours.

Editor's Note: Miss Warner graduated from Ohio University receiving a diploma in Elementary Education in 1917 and the B. S. in Education degree in 1918. She re-completing the two year course may receive an elementary certificate and the student completing the four year course may receive a high school certificate.

It is my belief that our country as a progressive nation can not afford to neglect any type of special class children, therefore we are making a study of all types of schools for exceptional children, such as schools for the bright, the dull-normal, the mentally defective, the blind, the deaf, the speech defective, the crippled, the tubercular, the cardiac, etc., etc. Emphasis is placed on the study of the individual child

ON THE CAMPUS

Summer School, 1923.

Elimination of the special Spring term and a combining of the regular summer session with the extension term into a regular half semester session of nine weeks will work a change in the University's educational program for 1923. The Summer School will open June 18 and continue to August 17. The usual load of the student will be eight credit hours and in no case will more than nine hours be permitted. All indications point to a record attendance. The regular University faculty increased by others necessary to care for the additional students will serve during the summer months.

Erratum.

In an article appearing on this page of the December Bulletin under the heading, "If You Care For Figures," classification figures of the present enrollment in schools and departments gave the art department of the School of Education a decidedly raw deal. The department was credited with an enrollment of but two students whereas there are thirty taking work leading to degrees as follows:

B. S. in Ed. (Art Supervisor's Course)-----	27
A. B. (Art Supervisor's Course)-----	1
Supervisor's Course (irregular)-----	2

We are glad to make the correction for we fear that all the art graduates would be confirmed in their belief that the "palmy" days of the department ended with their graduation. Not so, friends.

Famous Student Lectures.

Dr. Charles Foster Kent, Woolsey Professor of Biblical History and eminent scholar of Yale University spent several days on the campus and delivered a series of lectures. Dr. Kent is of the school of higher critics and interpreters of the Bible in the light of modern science. Dr. Kent came under the auspices of the Ohio University School of Religion.

Sunday Concerts.

The School of Music is sponsoring a series of Sunday afternoon concerts in the Ewing Hall Auditorium. The concerts are to be held bi-weekly. The first of the series was the Samuel Coleridge-Taylor cantata, "The Death of Minnehaha," given by the Choral Society, under the baton of Prof. C. C. Robinson. Its overwhelming success is attested by the fact that the auditorium was packed to the corridors and the ushers report that there were easily two hundred persons who were turned away. The next concert, which will be held February 4, will be the recital of Miss Joy Cutler, of the music faculty.

Devereux Players Come.

Last year the Woman's League of Ohio University brought Madame Hammer in two performances of Ibsen to the campus and inaugurated the custom of bringing outstanding dramatic talent or artists each year. The immediate purpose is to raise money for an annual obligation of $200 which the League has assumed toward the support of the Constantinople College for Women of the Near-East. This year The Devereux players will appear on February 8 and 9, in two plays, "Romeo and Juliet," by Shakespeare, and "Arms and the Man," by Shaw. An interesting fact is that the leading lady in the group was an early student of Prof. W. H. Cooper, head of the department of Public Speaking.

Glee Clubs to Travel.

On February 8th, the Men's Glee Club will appear in Logan, Ohio, under the auspices of the Logan Kiwanis Club. The Girls' Glee Club expects to appear in Wellston and Jackson and favorable consideration is being given them to appear before the Ohio Music Teachers' Association and The State Federation of Music Clubs at their meeting to be held in Zanesville in April. Prof. Robinson also announces that Ohio University has received an invitation to send representatives of its Men's Club to a meeting in Columbus for the purpose of organizing an Ohio Intercollegiate Glee Club Association. This association will conduct contests similar to the annual competitions of the national body.

Senate Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee of the Ohio State Senate came to Ohio University, January 19th, on its round of visits to all the tax-supported institutions. A monster special chapel was held in their honor to which several hundred students were unable to gain admission because of the size of the auditorium. Speeches by various members of the Senate disclosed them to be highly pleased with their reception. The afternoon was devoted to a hearing of the needs of Ohio University as set forth by President Bryan and a committee of the Board of Trustees.

Did You Know We Had One?

Ohio University has long possessed a feature department which has been hid under a bushel—the University Museum. At present it is a conglomeration of curios well preserved in dust in the basement of Carnegie Library but it is soon to be brought to light. It is planned to move the museum to the first floor of Old Music Hall (now the Fine Arts Building). Hundreds of fine geological and marine specimens; relics of the Indians and the mound-builders; Civil War relics; books and manuscripts; and personal trinkets are contained in this interesting and valuable collection. A curator will be provided so that the greatest possible benefit may be derived from an always well kept museum.

Ohio Minstrels.

The Men's Union is busily planning for a minstrel show to be presented March 5 and 6. The men expect to make this one of the big affairs of the season wherein all the wit and talent of the campus will be given full recognition. Mr. Charles Adams of the Miller Producing Co., of New York, will be the director. Surplus cash receipts are to be used for equipping the reading and writing room of the Student's Union.

Commerce Prizes.

D. H. Moore, prominent Athens banker and business man, who has been delivering a series of special lectures in the School of Commerce has offered a new scholarship prize to commercial students. To stimulate interest in the subject of "Investments," Mr. Moore has offered three prizes for the best thesis on the subject. Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be awarded. In addition, Mr. Moore has offered $50 to students in the School of Commerce for proficiency in typewriting.

Lecture-Recitals.

Mrs. Margaret A. Benedict of the faculty of the School of Music is conducting a series of lecture-recitals in the Fine Arts Building. Mrs. Benedict's wide experience in the field of music and her pleasing personality combine to make the recitals affairs of great interest.

New Courses Offered.

Several new courses have been announced for the second semester which is just opening. Dr. Porter, head of the Psychology department will conduct a course in "Business Psychology." Prof. Shilt is offering a course in "Practical Advertising." Prof. Cooper offers "Economic and Regional Geography of South America," in the Geography department. The "Mathematics of Finance" is another new course in commerce. The last of the new classes is that of Astronomy, taught by Dr. Borger.

Point System for Men.

In order that some few men, however capable and efficient, may not hold the majority of the positions of honor and influence on the campus the Men's Union (corresponding to the Woman's League) is sponsoring a point system whereby the undergraduates will be permitted to hold offices, the total point valuation of which will not exceed a certain maximum. The number of points which may be carried by any one man will depend upon his rank in college. All of the offices and positions of the campus have been carefully appraised and points assigned. The system has the dual purpose of distributing honors among a greater number of men and of preventing an individual from assuming duties in the performance of which the lack of time and strength might seriously interfere. The women of the University have long been governed by such a system in their extra-curricula activities.

ALUMNI SEEK TO AID EXECUTIVES

For the purpose of strengthening the position of the executive officers of the three state supported universities when they present their financial needs to the State Legislature a joint meeting of alumni was called in Cincinnati, January 19, at Hotel Gibson. Representatives of the alumni of Ohio State, Miami, and Ohio University were in attendance. Dr. Phillip Zenner, '70, Attorney B. M. Headley, and Rev. James DeForest Murch, '15, were the Ohio University representatives. Mr. C. Vivian Anderson presided at the meeting.

Dr. Morris, of Miami University, presented the situation at Columbus with regard to appropriations for 1923-24. After some discussion it was agreed that one representative from each of the local university clubs should constitute a committee to see Hamilton County representatives in the state legislature. Following this personal presentation of financial needs, Hamilton County representatives are to be invited to an open meeting of the university alumni, at which time Hon. T. J. Davis will present the needs in a public address. Mr. Murch will represent Ohio University on the committee above named.

The body was brought to Athens where interment was made.

ATHLETICS

STRONG SCHEDULE IN FOOTBALL IS OBTAINED

Ohio fans are rejoicing over one of the strongest and most satisfactory football schedules ever secured for an Ohio University gridiron team. The necessity for stepping outside the conference for suitable contests seems to have been overcome this year as outstanding conference teams have been secured to furnish the season's opposition. The Green and White schedule for 1923 includes Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, Denison, St. Xavier, Cincinnati, Kenyon, Western Reserve, and Marietta. Prof. O. C. Bird and Coach Grover were representatives at the Conference meeting of coaches and managers, and to their efforts is due the exceptionally fine schedule.

Ohio will have four home games, with Cincinnati, Western Reserve, Kenyon, and Marietta. The foreign fields to be invaded are Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, Denison, and St. Xavier. In meeting Wesleyan, Denison and Oberlin, the Green and White will be pitted against three of the strongest teams in the state. On the other hand Ohio is expecting much of its seventeen eligible letter men and a wealth of new material. It looks like the fur would fly in the Ohio circuit next year.

The schedule:

Sept. 29	Open
October 6	Oberlin
October 13	St. Xavier
October 20	Cincinnati
October 27	Western Reserve
November 3	Kenyon
November 10	Ohio Wesleyan
November 17	Denison
November 29	Marietta

OHIO CAGERS WIN SCRAP WITH BEAR-CATS

In one of the most thrilling contests ever staged on the Ohio floor, the Green and White quintet came out on the long end of an 18 to 17 score, January 26, against Cincinnati U. Considering the fact that Odaffer, Ohio's star center, was on the sick list, the victory was followed by many sighs of relief. Inasmuch as championship hopes were entertained by both the river aggregation and the Athens team the game was a battle from the first whistle. Cincinnati is coming to be recognized as a leader in the Ohio Conference and Cincy teams are at all times to be feared. Cincinnati attempted the five-man style of defense but their play was solved early in the first half. Herron for Ohio was the stellar performer in the initial period. The score: 9 to 6.

In the second half the Bearcat center, Linneman ran wild and with two heart-rending shots tied the score. The remainder of the game was nip and tuck with never more than two points difference in the score. Forwards Herron and Dupler and Captain Burkett who was shifted from guard to center to fill the vacancy made by Odaffer were outstanding players in this first conference game. Shifting to defensive guard, Burkett held Hibarger, star Cincy forward, scoreless.

The Varsity travels to Cincinnati, January 27, for a return game. On the preceding night they will meet the strong St. Xavier quintet. St. Xavier is now a member of the Ohio Conference so that both games loom large on the schedule. Needless to say Cincinnati U. will be out for revenge and on their home floor will furnish a genuine tussle.

Ohio 18	Cincinnati 17
Burkett	Linneman

Herron	Hibarger
	Right Forward
Dupler	Hoy

OHIO NORTHERN DEFEATED BY ONE POINT

A brand of pass work and basket shooting seldom seen on the Ohio court was exhibited Friday night, January 19, when Ohio nosed out the fast and much touted Ohio Northern basketball team by the narrow margin of one point. This was the second of a thrilling series of one point victories. The final score was 27-26. Northern started the score early in the game and could not be checked until the score stood six-nothing in their favor. Ohio's hopes for the championship seemed to be floating away on the wings of the wind. With back to the wall the Ohio quintet began to fight like demons. The remainder of the game was a veritable whirlwind. Littler, of football fame, Herron, and Woodruff chucked 'em through for the necessary count to tie the score. Speed was the thing which both teams possessed "nothing else but." Odaffer and Burkett completed the scoring with Herron making good on three out of four fouls. Perlick, diminutive Northern forward from Cleveland East Tech., was a wonder. His phenomenal dribbling and shooting kept the Ada men trailing by never less than one or two points during the entire second half. With the score 27-26, a Northern shot hit the rim of the basket, made a half circuit of the hoop and dropped—to the floor, just as the referee's whistle ended the game. A few hearts are still missing occasional beats. The line-up:

ASSOCIATION REVISES TOURNAMENT PLANS

Instead of the usual invitation tournament this year on the individual initiative of various universities the Ohio High School Athletic Association has adopted a new plan for deciding the state championship among high schools. Ohio Wesleyan will do away with their annual all-state tournament. Under the new system the state will be divided into five sections and the high schools in each will compete in the tournament of their own section. The Athletic department of Ohio University will promote the tournament for the south-eastern division. The high school association has set the dates for March 2 and 3. Other universities and cities to hold tournaments are Miami, Case, Ohio Wesleyan, and Greenfield, Ohio.

Under the new rules the high schools will be divided into Class A and B teams. Schools having an enrollment of 300 or more being in Class A and those of less than 300 in Class B. The state championship will be determined at Columbus in a tournament of the sectional winners. Ohio University will entertain seven Class A teams and twenty Class B. Those in Class A will be Greenfield, Chillicothe, Washington C. H., Nelsonville, Athens, Portsmouth, and Hillsboro. Those in Class B are: Gallipolis, Middleport, Wilkesville, Centralia, Buckskin, Rome Twp., Rushville, Hamden, Beaver, Pomeroy, Bremen, Rutland, Crooksville, South Webster, Wheelersburg, Stoutsville, Somerset, The Plains, and Sciotoville.

SALEM COLLEGE PROVIDES THRILLS. OHIO WINS 22 TO 21

Salem College of West Virginia furnished the excitement at Ohio Gym, January 20, for a capacity crowd of basketball fans. The game, which ended in a score of 22 to 21, was the third on the Green and White schedule to end with such a narrow margin and the second on successive nights. While the win was not a conference victory the fact that the Salem quintet came to Athens with a string of 22 straight victories neatly tucked in their belts made the outcome particularly gratifying. It seems that the little heard of West Virginia school is quite some "pumpkins" in their own hills and every spectator will say that it took decisive measures to convince them that defeat was to be their portion. They battled gamely to the last whistle and near the end of the second half after the forced withdrawal of Woodruff, Ohio forward, due to an injury, it was anybody's game. It was Odaffer and Burkett who furnished the scoring combination for Ohio. These two men are sure to be recognized in the conference this year and will contribute largely to the success of the season.

All hearts are with the Green and White team at Cincinnati this week-end. A clean slate after the Cincinnati and St. Xavier games will open the way for what we predict will be a championship contest with Wittenberg, at Springfield, March 9. Ohio, Wittenberg and Denison are the three teams whose percentage remain in the 1000 column at the time this is written. Western Reserve at Cleveland, February 3, and Oberlin at Oberlin, February 5, follow the Cincinnati trip. Hold your breath, folks, and cross your fingers. We must have another championship this year.

FROSH BASKETEERS GIVE STIFF COMPETITION TO VARSITY FIVE

Stars from numerous high school teams compose the Freshman basketball team which is aiding in keeping the varsity in excellent trim for the conference frays. It is one of the strongest and most promising Frosh outfits in recent years. The athletic heads are well pleased with the material and are giving special attention to the twenty men who are out each evening to win a place on the squad. Raymond Davis, '21, All-Ohio court and grid-iron star who is taking work in the new school of Physical Education has been secured as Freshman Coach. In a full-time game January 12, the first year men held the varsity to a 14 to 12 score.

On the team are Wright and Breining of Mt. Vernon. It will be remembered that Mt. Vernon captured first honors in Ohio and took second place in the national tournament at Chicago last year. Wright made a forward position on the All-American scholastic team. Both men are fine shots and have an excellent knowledge of the game. Fletcher, a team mate, will be in school the second semester. The Mt. Vernon team was coached last year by Harry Newman, '20.

Deedrick and King are promising candidates hailing from McConnelsville, Ohio. Davis and Brenkworth of Parkersburg, Thomas of Columbus, and D. Wise, Wilcox, and Brooks, of Athens, are all valuable men who will hustle the veterans over the floor this winter.

—O. U.—

COURSE IN COACHING IS NOW OFFERED

A special course in athletic coaching is to be conducted the second semester, open to upper classmen, under the direction of Prof. O. C. Bird and Coach Grover. The course will embrace the study of the three major sports: football, baseball and basketball. Prof. Bird will instruct in football while Grover will have baseball and basketball. Fundamentals and theory of all phases of playing will be studied as well as proper methods of training and conditioning teams and an intensive study of the rules.

WRESTLERS DEFEATED

The Ohio wrestling team under the direction of Coach Thor Olson engaged in a dual meet with the West Virginia University team at Morgantown, January 20. Wrestling in the "Mountaineer" school has much the status of a major sport. Most of the bouts were lost on points and not as the result of falls, a fact which indicates that the Ohioans gave royal battle. West Virginia won by a score of 26 to 8. Men were entered in the following classes: 115 lb., 125 lb., 135 lb., 145 lb., 158 lb., and the heavy-weight.

DAVIS TO COACH FROSH

Raymond Davis, '21, of Ohio University, and one of the best athletes who ever donned the Green and White colors, has returned to college to take the new course in Physical Training. While in school, Davis has been secured as Freshman basketball mentor.

The newly appointed coach starred for three years on the Ohio University basketball squad and was Captain of the Green and White quintet in 1921, the season in which Ohio won the Conference championship. Davis was also honored the same season by being placed on the All-Ohio team and distinguished by being named as captain.

The Freshman squad of twenty members which has some excellent material will be directed by Davis in practice sessions against the Varsity every afternoon. On Wednesday and Friday evenings the yearlings hold secret practice.

SWEATERS ARE GIVEN TO GRIDIRON WARRIORS

At the first convocation exercises of the new year the members of the football squad eligible to receive the varsity "O" were honored for faithful service during the past season. Dr. Bryan presented the sweaters which were white with a green chinchilla "O." Those lost for next year by graduation are Captain Fiber, Walsh, and Fisher. Cletus Patterson, of Wellsville, Ohio, was elected to captain the 1923 team. The captain elect has played a tackle position on the varsity for two years and was this year honored by being placed on the second All-Ohio team.

Those who received letters and sweaters were: Fiber, Patterson, Littler, Odaffer, Wise, Rush, Reinhold, Odonnell, Barrett, Dollings, Palmer, Herbert, Moritz, Smith, Middleton, Duvall, McCleary, Payne and Walsh.

For the first time in many seasons the Freshman squad of twenty-four players and the assistant football managers were awarded a "V" neck, olive green jersey with white numerals.

1923 Grid Schedule.

Kenyon, Ohio Wesleyan, and Oberlin, are names that look good to Ohio graduates as they appear on the Green and White football schedule for 1923. It has been many a football day since these teams have been met. They are all to be played under two-year contracts thus assuring further athletic relations with these schools. Athletic Director Bird and Coach Grover expect to have little trouble in the future scheduling desirable contests. A clean record at the end of the season next year will leave little doubt as to the winner of the title.

'22—Clarence E. Clifford, former editor-in-chief of The Green and White and Wilbur E. Emish, 1921 editor of the Athena, are both members of the Zanesville High School. Both are Torch men.

Moore.—Miss Mary Ellen Moore, aged 70, of Athens, Ohio, died January 29, 1922, after an illness of several weeks. Miss Moore had devoted 34 years of her life to teaching school. From 1902 to 1920 she held a position on the faculty of Ohio University as a teacher of Latin. Failing health caused her resignation and withdrawal from school circles in 1920. Miss Moore was known and loved by hundreds of former students and graduates. She is a cousin of the late Bishop David H. Moore, '60.

With The Faculty

Miss Helen Hockenberry, instructor in French, who is absent on leave is spending the winter abroad. She has been visiting places of historical and literary interest in England and Scotland during the past month. At present she is in Paris. Miss Hockenberry has been awarded a Fellowship at the University of Bordeaux and entered that university when it opened November 1. During her vacation she will visit the most interesting places in both Italy and Spain.

Miss Clara Bancroft, a former voice teacher in the School of Music, was heard recently in recital in Aeolian Hall, New York City. Miss Bancroft has been singing in some of the large New York churches and will leave the city soon for a brief concert tour in upper New York state.

Dr. Frederic F. Treudley, former head of the department of Philosophy and Ethics at Ohio University, is temporarily occupying a similar position at Hiram College, his Alma Mater. He is filling the vacancy at Hiram resulting from his daughter's absence on leave for one year. Dr. Treudley is well remembered not only because of his unusual ability as a professor but also for his long period of service at the University from which he retired in 1921.

Dr. Willis L. Gard of the School of Education was detailed for six weeks of work with representatives of five tax-supported educational institutions of Ohio to study the work of these institutions. These representatives will lay their findings before the presidents for their consideration with the view of affecting closer co-operation among the educational institutions of the state.

Prof. W. H. Cooper, head of the department of Public Speaking has been elected to direct the activities of the Southeastern Ohio Interscholastic Debating Association. In this office it will be Prof. Cooper's duty to choose the questions for debate, to assign the high schools to places in the various triangles, to set the dates for contests, to referee any disputes which may arise, and to set the time of the final debate.

Rev. Charles M. Bond, University Pastor, may claim something of an athletic record back in the east. For three-years Rev. Bond played guard at Peddie Institute, Heights-town, N. J., where he took his "prep" work. While a student at Colgate University, he played two years on the varsity team until forced to discontinue football by the necessity of working to maintain himself in college. During the period of his playing he participated in games against most of the big eastern schools.

The many friends of Prof. C. N. Mackinnon will learn with regret of the serious illness and death of his mother, Dec. 9, at her home in Brockton, Mass.

Miss Mary Farnum, Institutional Manager of Ohio University is a skilled dietician who balances the rations of the university co-eds and provides for the "iron" and the "vitamines" in their menus. Every day she must plan, purchase, and oversee the serving of 1100 meals at the O. U. Cafeteria and Lindley Hall. She manages the hiring and control of the help which numbers about forty-five persons. The board at Lindley Hall costs each girl $4.00 per week which amounts to 18 cents per meal. The prices of the dishes served at the Cafeteria are set by Miss Farnum on this cost basis. The position of dietician is a new one and an experiment at Ohio University but the success and popularity which Miss Farnum has brought to this department will doubtless insure its permanency.

Prof. T. N. Hoover was recently elected chairman of the State Education Committee of the Kiwanis Club. The honor is in recognition of Prof. Hoover's ability both as an educator and as a leader in community affairs.
